Riders on the Storm. of capacity abundance: the satcom market has undergone dramatic changes over the past decade, chiefly going from an industry characterised by capacity scarcity to one characterised by capacity abundance. As massive NGSO constellations have launched, the opportunities for bringing new services to market have multiplied, as have competitive threats. During this talk, we will provide an overview of the satcom market today and moving forward, drawing on data and insights from No-vaspace reports and leaving time for a few questions.
